

2016 Candidates for CSFFA Board of Directors

Murray Moore

I have done This and That as a fan.

Some of This is being the Canadian Unity Fan Fund (CUFF) delegate to VCon in 2001. I also have attended Aurora Awards in Calgary, Winnipeg, and Toronto. In Toronto I am a founding member of the SFContario committee, in charge of dealers. I was a member of the board of directors of Torcon 3 Worldcon (2003); also a Torcon 3 Division Head (Hotel and Facilities). During the 2001 World Fantasy Convention (Montreal) I was in charge of at-con Registration.

Some of That is having been the Fanzine Activity Achievement Awards (FAAn) administrator for three years, the awards announced during the annual Corflu, in my case Toronto (2006), Austin (2007), Las Vegas (2008), and again next year in Los Angeles (2017).

Clifford Samuels

Organizer, reader and avid collector; those are the best words to describe Cliff Samuels. He has been collecting Science Fiction and Fantasy books for over 35 years. It can be said that even if he stopped buying new books he would never be able to read everything he has, but that will never happen. His IT background has allowed him to work on every aspect of conventions for the past 30 years.

Cliff has been on the CSFFA board of directors for many years and is currently the society's President and the Aurora awards' administrator. Outside of CSFFA he is the Guest Liaison for the When Words Collide readers and writers festival in Calgary.

Danielle Stephens

I manage the comic at <http://goblinscomic.com> and I work with fan geekery conventions like @VCON in Vancouver. I'm also the author of The Hyper Halfling's Book

Jean-Louis Trudel

Born in Toronto, Jean-Louis Trudel holds degrees in physics, astronomy, and the history and philosophy of science. Since 1994, he has authored (alone or in collaboration with Yves Meynard as Laurent McAllister) a trio of novels published in France, four fiction collections, and twenty-six young adult books published in Canada. His short stories in French have appeared in magazines like imagine... and Solaris, and in various other venues. In English, his short fiction has been published in several Canadian and U.S. anthologies, but Candidates for the Canadian Science Fiction and Fantasy Association - Annual General Meeting June 7, 2014 also in magazines like ON SPEC and Prairie Fire. When time allows, he also does translations and science fiction criticism. Jean-Louis is the current Vice Chair of CSFFA.
